2019 UM Summer Session I
UM GRAND TOUR OF EUROPE
Paris, Venice, Florence, Rome, Madrid, Athens
& the Greek Islands of Mykonos, Santorini and Rhodes

May 14 - June 15, 2019, Early Summer Session I, 3 or 6 Credits
Tuition $6,090 - $12,180 | Travel Package ± $7,780 - $11,200
Financial Aid Available.

This UM for credit program is an on-site study of European cities and towns. Students of every school and major and faculty travel together to explore their most significant historical buildings and public places. Class Instruction is given on site, providing an understanding of these cities, their architecture and history. The first part of the course trip (3 cr.) includes Paris, Venice, Florence, and Rome; followed by the second part (3 cr.) includes Athens, and the spectacular Greek Islands of Mykonos, Rhodes and Madrid.

This program is in the tradition of the Grand Tour of the XIX century, when northern Europeans traveled to Italy and Greece, to learn the culture of Antiquity. This course-trip is intended for undergraduate and graduate students from the University of Miami and other accredited universities. No prerequisite course required. Academic activities are focused on lectures, seminars, and visits to buildings and places. Required work includes assigned reading, a course journal and a final examination.
